

2016 BERKLEY SUMMER CLASSIC

June 24, 25, 26

PLAYERS AGREEMENT AND PARENTAL CONSENT TO PARTICIPATE IN THE BERKLEY DADS' CLUB SUMMER CLASSIC BASEBALL TOURNAMENT

The participant must take responsibility to avoid injuries to self, teammates, and opponents. Although baseball is not a hazardous activity and in spite of rules to prevent injuries and equipment to protect vulnerable body parts, participation does include risk of injury. Injuries may be slight or severe, such as bruises, lacerations, broken bones, injuries to eyes and teeth and those with long-term consequences. Although serious injuries are not common in supervised youth baseball programs, it is possible only to minimize, and not completely eliminate, this risk.

Players must wear appropriate protection equipment and wearing apparel when playing. They also must inspect their equipment before every game to insure that it has the essential protective qualities. Any equipment, which appears to have torn or have a defect in some way, should be identified to the coaches promptly. In addition, equipment must fit properly and if there seems to be a problem, the player should so indicate.
