Obstruction of Free Space to Goal

- Free Space to Goal is a path defined by two imaginary lines extending from the ball to the outside edges of the goal circle. A defense player obstructing the free space to goal with any part of her body denies the attacker the opportunity to shoot safely and encourages shooting at an unprotected player.
- The following points need to be considered before obstruction of free space is called:
 - The ball carrier must be within the critical scoring area (12 meters)
 - The ball carrier must be in active pursuit to goal and must have the opportunity to shoot.
 - A defender intentionally marking within a stick's length of the ball carrier is not obstructing the free space to goal.
 - Defenders who are being drawn into and through the free space by cutting attack players are not obstructing the free space to goal.

Penalty Zone:

- The new penalty zone is the area 8 meters away from the goal circle above the goal line extended and the area created by the extension of the 8 meter mark to the dots and across the dots.
- This is to minimize the risk around the 8 meter free positions as well as to increase pace of play by limiting repeated obstruction calls, the penalty zone must be cleared when a defensive player commits a major foul in the 8 meter arc.
- The defense has first right to the hashes on either side of the player with the ball on a penalty shot.

- The player fouled must take the free position within playing distance of the spot of the foul. The offending player shall move 4 meters from the player taking the free position as directed by the official.

Three Second Violation

- The defense may not remain in the 8m arc for more than three seconds unless she is marking a player within a stick's length.
- Within a stick's length is when any part of the opponent's body is inside a crosses' length.
- The three-second rule is in effect when the team in possession of the ball crosses over the Restraining Line in their attacking half of the field.
- The intent of this rule is to prevent crowding by the defense in front of the goal. An offensive player in the 8 meter arc that does not have possession of the ball can be marked by only one defensive player.
